Passes are issued on a space-available basis for all single-game requests. Credentials will be left at the Press Entrance (located on the North side of the Main Concourse Level) and can be picked up two hours prior to tip-off on game nights.

IMPORTANT: Please note that all 2017-18 full-season credentials will be valid for the first three rounds of the 2018 Playoffs. FRONT OFFICE

BRYAN COLANGELO

President of Basketball Operations

On April 10, 2016, the Philadelphia 76ers named Bryan Colangelo President of Basketball Operations. In 2017-18, his second season with the 76ers, Colangelo helped orchestrate the franchise's first 50-win season since 2000-01 and its first playoff berth in six years. With the midseason acquisitions of Marco Belinelli and Ersan Ilyasova, as well as the offseason signings of JJ Redick and Amir Johnson, Colangelo added veteran leadership and fire power to a budding, young roster. He also traded for the No. 1 overall pick in the 2017 NBA Draft, where Philadelphia selected Markelle Fultz, the dynamic 19-year-old guard out of Washington. Since Colangelo's arrival, the team has improved from 10 wins to 50-plus, increasing the team's win total by five times in the two-season span. Prior to joining the Sixers, Colangelo served as President of Basketball Operations and General Manager with the Toronto Raptors from 2006-13. He spent 15 years in the Phoenix Suns organization, where he served 11 seasons as the club's General Manager including the last seven as team President. Colangelo's arrival in Toronto was marked by a series of trades and free agent acquisitions that resulted in nine new players on the roster at the start of 2006- 07 training camp. In his first full season at the helm of the Raptors, the team improved an NBA-best 20 wins over the 2005-06 season to tie a franchise high with 47 victories. Toronto went on to win the 2006-07 Atlantic Division championship, securing third seed and home court in its return to the playoffs after missing the postseason the previous five seasons. For his efforts in leading the Raptors' dramatic change of fortune, Colangelo was named 2006-07 Sporting News NBA Executive of the Year. It was his second such honor, having received the award in 2005 after guiding the Suns to the third-greatest turnaround in NBA history en route to winning the Pacific Division Championship. He is one of only three executives to win the award with two different franchises (Bob Bass, Jerry West). During Colangelo's career as a General Manager, his teams have appeared in the NBA Playoffs 11 times and have captured four division championships. Prior to his move to Toronto, the former Suns executive was part of a new ownership group that purchased the franchise June 30, 2004. He also previously held the positions of Scout, Assistant Director of Player Personnel, and Vice President/Assistant General Manager with the Suns, where he was directly involved in all aspects of player personnel, including evaluation, draft selection and transactions. He also served as tournament director of the NIKE Desert Classic, an annual college All-Star basketball tournament held in Phoenix, from 1993 through 2001. Brown led the 2017-18 76ers to their first 50-win season since the 2000-01 campaign and their first playoff appearance in six years. Boasting a top-five defense in the league, Brown's team also led the NBA in rebounds per game and was second in assists per contest. The 76ers' jump from 28 wins in 2016-17 to 52 in 2017-18 was the largest season-to-season improvement in franchise history and the largest in the NBA since 2013-14. In March 2018, Philadelphia tied a franchise record with 13 wins in 16 games and on March 15, began a 16-game winning streak, which is the longest single-season streak in franchise hisotry. The 2016-17 team saw a league-best 18-win improvement from the season before and boasted a 10-5 record in January, which was among the best in the NBA. Under Brown's watch, rookie center Joel Embiid and forward Dario Saric each made major impacts on the floor and both were selected First Team All-Rookie. Brown's offensive philosophy of pace, space and pass was evident throughout the 16-17 year as the Sixers finished seventh in pace and seventh in three-point attempts. Behind Brown's team first offensive approach, the Sixers led the league in passes per game and finished third in the NBA in assist percentage, behind the NBA champion Golden State Warriors and the Boston Celtics. Second-year point guard T.J. McConnell averaged a team-best 6.6 assists per game while finishing eighth in the league with 534 assists. On the defensive end, the past year saw the Sixers jump 10 spots in defensive efficiency from 26th the year before to 16th in 16-17. Brown's active, pressure inducing defense finished third in deflections and third in steals. In each of his first four seasons, the Sixers have ranked within the top 10 in the NBA in steals per game, only once falling outside of the top three and leading the league in that category in 2013-14. From the start of his Sixers tenure, Brown placed emphasis on player development and a commitment to an elite level of conditioning as the pillars of his program in Philadelphia. The Sixers player development wing was critical to the growth of Robert Covington and McConnell, both undrafted players who have been molded into key NBA contributors. Brown's personal touch with player development has been evident in the growth of several Sixers, including Embiid, Saric, and Simmons Brown will next look to grow a pair of No. 1 overall picks in forward Ben Simmons and guard Markelle Fultz, who will make their NBA debuts in 2017-18.
